

Trailman crabapples are small, typically around 1 to 2 inches (2.5-5 cm) in diameter, with descriptions ranging from poultry-egg size to slightly larger, often with a peachy-yellow base and a reddish-orange blush, making them great for eating, cooking, and preserves. ↗

Key Characteristics:

- Size: Generally 1 to 2 inches across.
- Color: Yellow with orange-red or brownish-red blush.
- Texture: Crisp, juicy flesh with thin skin.
- Flavor: Sweet, spicy, slightly nutty, and tart but not astringent.
- Uses: Excellent for fresh eating, cooking, baking, canning, and juicing.
- Origin: Developed in Canada for cold climates, hardy to Zone 1/3.